

Marlite Wood Veneer Samples

“Type” Samples

Marlite wood veneer samples are “Type” samples only and are meant to illustrate what may be a typical appearance for each particular species. These “Type” samples are intended to show style of cut (rift, flat cut, quartered, ect.), give an idea of grain configuration or patterning and an indication of the general hue of any veneer species. Due to the natural characteristics of real wood veneers, it is impossible to give a reliable representation of the color, texture and characteristics of the veneer that may be provided on an order through “Type” sampling. “Type” samples submitted will rarely be from the same flitch of veneer on an order.

“Live” Samples

If your project requires veneers that are to be of a particular color range and appearance (custom stained) or if they need to harmonize with materials supplied through other sources, then you will require “Live” samples to be submitted for approval. “Live” samples are submission from active and available veneer flitches that can be provided for your particular order. Still, due to natural variations throughout a flitch, the final material order may vary slightly from the “Live” sample. We will provide “Live” samples only after receipt of an order as these flitches can be held just a limited time.

Production

Marlite wood veneer panels are produced using book matched veneer faces and are supplied to be randomly installed unless otherwise specified. The veneer used throughout an order will be either from the same flitch or from various harmonizing flitches, dependent upon the size of the order.
